

Detective Horace Cecil Williams | Baltimore and Ohio Railroad

Age: $35\frac{3}{4}$

Served: 10+ years

Before 1920 to October 11, 1930

OFFICER

Horace was born January 1, 1895 in Waverly, Pike County, Ohio. We do not know what happened to his parents, but by the time he was five years old he was living with his grandparents, James M. and Emaline Williams in Huntington Township, Ross County, just outside of Chillicothe. At fifteen, during 1910, he worked as a special delivery boy for a local meat market. Before 1917, he had served in artillery units of the Ohio and Alabama National Guards, married, moved a few doors down the street, had two sons, and was working as a Pipefitter for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad out of Chillicothe.

By 1920, he was a Detective for the railroad and had moved his family in with his widowed grandmother. By 1923, he moved to Water Street in Chillicothe and had another son. During 1930, Detective Williams and his family of five were living on Court Street in Washington Court House.

INCIDENT

On October 11, 1930, at about 3:15 a.m., Detective Williams, attempting to catch railroad car thieves in the Oakley Rail Yards near Duck Creek, was conducting surveillance from between two railroad cars on a sidetrack.

Engineer Andy Senson backed a cut of cars, intending to put them to another sidetrack, but the switch had not been thrown and they struck the cars where Detective Williams was standing. He was knocked down and his head was crushed.

He died of shock and hemorrhage following fracture of skull.

FUNERAL

Detective Williams was survived by his wife, Ella Bell (Gunter) Williams; sons, Charles Raymond Williams (15), James W. Williams (13), and Horace Williams; and grandmother. He was buried in Greenlawn Cemetery in Chillicothe, Ohio.
